

FILE TYPE

Executable Print Ready files should be saved in the file your printer needs to print your project. All file formats are not created equally. Ask your printer what files they need to print best quality output. Be sure to follow the printers instructions.

FYI-Powerpoint, Microsoft Office, and Excel are not professional print layout programs. These files are not accepted as print ready files, and do not produce quality print projects. Sending files in the wrong format can delay your job, increase your costs and reduce the appearance of our finished project.
